CORIAN

Corian® Solid Surface is made from 2/3rds natural minerals (Alumina Trihydrate) and 1/3rd acrylic binder. It is this unique formula that allows Corian® to be completely non-porous, hygienic, seamless and Thermoformable. Our Corian® vanity tops are available in 12mm or 30mm edge thickness, and our integrated tops come in 12mm, 50mm or 100mm edge thickness.

What is Timber veneer?

Timber veneer is a decorative building material comprising thin slices of timber glued onto wooden board, particle board or fibreboard.

Veneer is produced as a thin layer of timber that is uniform in thickness. The veneer is normally between 0.5 and 0.85mm thick in Australia.

Timber veneer is from a natural and renewable resource competing with non-renewable commodities like steel, aluminium and plastics.

Some of the benefits of using real timber in veneer form include:

A design collaboration with nature

The natural variation of timber means every log, and therefore every project, is individual. No two veneers are exactly alike. The 'fingerprints' of nature lift your designs above what is achievable with man-made alternatives. You can choose from a vast array of timber species, colours, and grains. The final veneer finish is virtually identical to solid timber. The warmth and depth of timber veneers add natural warmth and ambience to projects and is gentle to the touch.

Prestige and versatility

Timber veneer is a sought-after, premium decorative finish that adds prestige and style to furniture and joinery. Timber veneers can be moulded to fit many shapes, and when adhered to a stable commodity substrate, provided the versatility of solid timber, our oldest, yet most modern material

Maximises nature's resources Each metre of timber typically provides around 1,000 slices of timber veneer, making it a highly efficient and sustainable use of wood

Ecologically sensible solution Timber veneer is a 100% natural product and not made from petro-chemicals. The industry is committed to sustainable forest resources.
